WINGS MOBILE
DETAILING

THE FOUNDER

Wings Mobile Detailing was founded by Andre Mezalira, a Brazilian immigrant born in 1994 who has always had the will to work hard in order to accomplish his goals. From the age of 9 years old, Andre had begun his entrepreneurial journey by going door-to-door in the busy streets of Brazil to sell ice cream cones, painted art frames, desserts among many other things.

Now, with the immense door of opportunity this country has to offer, he is taking full advantage of his own potential, creating a brand that stands out as the top quality Mobile detailing company throughout the United States. In less than 3 years, Andre has been interviewed by a New York City radio station and participated in big events related to: leadership, sales, and business practices. Before 2015, Andre Mezalira started going to college for business and a degree in Real Estate. Although he had completed all the real estate courses, Andre knew that his true career fulfillment wasn't to become part of the 9 to 5 society. He completed many different courses throughout the year, and devoted his time reading and listening to countless books. By the time he founded Wings, Andre realized he had found his true passion, and it wasn't car detailing, it was the style of business he was just looking for. A business with endless potential, low overhead, and an infinite growth potential industry. A business where he could, in a short period of time, leave the front line and devote his time towards growth and expansion.

Andre became so passionate about growing himself and Wings that during his free time, including New Years, he spent on his favorite hobby, his "work". Andre was already influencing people in his community early on and getting attention from investors to become part of his noticeable growth. His vision, ever since he founded Wings was to do whatever it takes to grow this industry nationwide. Yes, since the beginning when he started from zero, driving a beat up sedan, Andre was already investing on company systems at the beginning stages with intentions to delegate all duties for future employees and to help dynamic ready-individuals to embark on this journey. Later in 2018, Andre founded the Wings Mobile Detailing PodCast to share his business experiences where in less than 1 year, the audience he has over 2,500 listened hours.

As Andre says: "if I was to name the biggest advantage I have in the marketplace, it is not my culture or the place where I came from, but it is the countless hours I devoted to educating myself, and my desire to never stop learning". If you share the same passion to success and are humble enough to understand that education is key, then Wings Mobile Detailing Franchise may be your vehicle towards financial and personal success.

His goal is to grow Wings Mobile Detailing to a nationwide brand while selecting the brightest group of motivated individuals to become part of this amazing team.

ABOUT THE COMPANY

Wings Mobile Detailing was founded with a set goal of becoming the most recognized auto detailing company in the United States. We are moving fast toward this goal. In only three years, we have acquired over one hundred and fifty 5-star customer reviews, exceeding any other mobile detailing company, while servicing thousands of people in various cities across the state of Virginia.

In fact, our company is considered to be the top rated mobile detailing company in the state of Virginia. This is because we are structured and known as quality service providers; we minimize our competition while maintaining a high profit margin with our competitive prices. While many other mobile companies are filled with staff problems and clientele turnover, Wings Mobile Detailing has a remarkably organized system by keeping loyal customers, having more than 80% customer return rate.

This is not a typical self-employment franchise like many others; Wings Mobile Detailing enable you to attain new heights and realize, in the first few months, that the potential to grow with this company is limitless toward wealth creation. Our technical training videos, expansion mindset, and free sales material created by multi millionaires will help you build a secure path towards success. You get all of these while connected to the same group of franchisees around the US, acquiring business knowledge and ideas altogether.

DO YOU QUALIFY?

Ask yourself These Questions

Will I embrace following a business model that requires me to invest time in self-development knowing that it will have a huge impact towards the success of my business?

Am I dissatisfied with a corporate 9-5 job instead with a guaranteed salary?

Do I have a "Whatever it takes" mindset towards growing a massive successful business?

Am I able to maintain a positive attitude and take full responsibility of any situation that takes place around me?

Am I willing to work uncomfortably and "hands-on" for the few years, through good and hard times, knowing that an almost guaranteed success awaits me?

Do I value my reading/ learning time more than completing other important daily tasks?

WHY CHOOSE US

If you find yourself not professionally satisfied, as if your current job limits your potential, Entrepreneurship may just be the answer! Lets be real; there is no nobility in staying average at some job hanging around the water cooler with your old peers. If this is not you, then we would love to invite you for our 5 star franchise business model.

Wings Mobile Detailing is completely reinventing what auto care means, and with that comes opportunity. Here you will be surrounded by great entrepreneurs, while growing your mindset and educating yourself on business expansion every single day. You will be part of the best Business & automotive Podcast, blogs and socially. All while being pushed to excel to your fullest potential. EVERYDAY. Not only financially, but also personally. If you don't consider yourself just average, if you are willing to put all excuses and doubts aside and let go of the old, then you may just be the right fit for our ever growing company.

Nov 08, 2021 (AB Digital via COMTEX) -- It's not often that we hear Grant Cardone recommend any investment outside of Real Estate. Investors need to make the money somewhere but not anywhere. Grant Cardone always speaks out highly about the importance of getting in the right vehicle that will lead to growth and possibly wealth. That's when he mentions the Wings Mobile detailing franchise.

Grant Cardone grew his sales business mostly in the automotive industry. Now he has an estimated wealth in the billions, So he knows all the ins and outs of a great business.

During a Podcast interview with Andre Mezalira, Grant Cardone reviewed one right vehicle for people to get in, and that is to invest in a reputable franchise.

Specifically, this one: www.franchise.wingsmobiledetailing.com

"Franchising is a great way to get rich," Grant said during this podcast interview.

Here are the plus signs to why Wings Mobile Detailing, a car detailing business franchise can be the right franchise for you to start and why:

The Wings mobile detailing franchise opportunity offers a very low initial investment entry and provides great flexibility to its Franchisees and Licensees. It's the only company where you can leverage the brand, its training courses and even their clients (Cash flow) all for a very low entry cost which is rare to find.

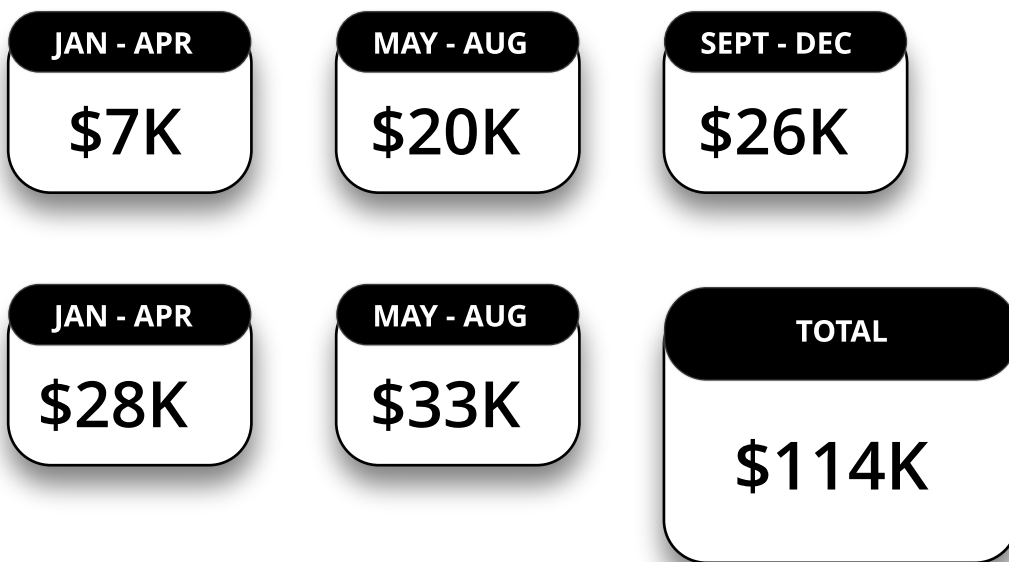

So the next time you are looking to start your own business and are willing to do whatever it takes, you may want to follow Grant's advice and consider leveraging an existing business brand.

SUCCESS STORY

From a corporate career to entrepreneurship

A month ago, I quit my 9-5 job to launch an auto detailing business. After studying for four years in finance, I ended up getting a corporate job that paid me $55K a year.

However, just two months before relocating for the job, I found out about Andre's story. He had grown Wings Mobile Detailing from nothing.

Once I realized Wings' potential, I decided that the corporate world wasn't for me. I was never going to be satisfied with a $55k salary for the rest of my life, while being in debt from school. Although I was set for a good career in the corporate world of finance due to my grades and good internships, I had bigger dreams.

Once I had made the decision to take apart in Wings' tremendous growth and potential, I started planning everything around the idea of investing in the franchise. I chose to take the 8 to 5 job purposefully to raise the funds needed for the franchise. I was working Monday through Friday at my desk job and Detailing cars on the weekend. At first, I was only getting a handful of clients. Then, by the third month, My weekends were fully booked.

I decided to quit my corporate job immediately and focused all of my efforts on growing Wings. It's only been a few months since I made that decision to quit my job and to be honest, I haven't looked back since. I have clients booked for all 7 days of the week now, and it's growing bigger almost every week.

Now, I'm looking to make close to double of what I was making at my analyst position for this coming month. Wings' potential seems unlimited at this point.

Is it hard? Absolutely. But, how many franchise opportunities almost guarantee a six figure income within the first few years and cost as little as Wings Mobile Detailing does?
